

Invitation to the free
online event
'Logopädie Digital',
Registration not required.

Date: 02. Mai 2024
Time: 5:00 pm CEST

Online conversations in aphasia: Strategies for improving text messaging

Speaker: Associate Professor Jamie H. Azios, PhD, University of Louisiana at Lafayette

Link: <https://us02web.zoom.us/j/85936613949>

Organization:

Prof. Dr. Sabine Corsten
(KH Mainz)

Prof. Dr. Norina Lauer
(OTH Regensburg)

Prof. Dr. Juliane Leinweber
(UMG | HAWK GCG)

Speaker

Jamie H. Azios, Associate Professor
Department of Communicative Disorders,
College of Liberal Arts, University of Louisiana at Lafayette

Jamie H. Azios is an experienced speech-language pathologist with expertise in neurogenic communication and swallowing disorders, and qualitative research methods. Her research interests focus on aphasia and social participation. In her presentation, she will explore the question of how digital inclusion can succeed in aphasia. Jamie H. Azios will present her current research on digital communication in aphasia and report on the development of a partner training programme for people with aphasia and their chat partners.

